CARRIER'S ADDRESS.

To the patrons and friends of the Davly and Weekly Journal Kind friends, I greet you on this happy day, With wishes warmer than the sun in May; And though I give them not in language terse, Yet feelings often speak in plainest verse.

Now as in those bright happy days of yore, When holydays such smiles of pleasure wore; The hearts of maidens bright with joy dilate,
And fancy treads o'er fields all roseate;
Gay Beaux well trimmed, now shape their eager way,
And culling words and pretty things to say,
They wooing go, to some fair beauteous Miss.
And smiling, greet her with a Christmas kiss.

Since last year's sun gleamed brightly in yon sky, Two brilliant stars have faded silently;— Our Nation mourning chaunts a solemn lay, For her two noblest sons—Webster and Clay.
Hush'd are their harps, in silence now they lie,
Their 'franchised spirits glorious in eternity,
While freedom bends, and deep bewails their doom,
They are shining far beyond the silent tomb. The noise and clamor of election day, Into oblivion long has passed away; No more is heard the din of party strife. Nor screaming notes of noisy drum and fife.

from shady woods and busy haunts, there came Brave patriots, striving for an honest name; And, after warm debate and turmoil fierce, Our chosen President is I ranklin Pierce. New things transpiring in our Yankee land, Would the attention of my muse demand : For you must know the marvellous dissension, Of Bloomer dresses-Women Rights Conventions.

A Crystal Palace, like old England had, Now rears itself in art and beauty clad : Thither the products of all nations tend,— The Yankee and the European blend. You all have heard the motley talk again, 'Bout a lone Island in the boundless Main, Where rare exotics shed their sweet perfume. And birds sing gaily, decked in richest plume; Where Filibusters glauce their wishful gaze, And Fancy wraps them in its wondrous maze.

All is not gold that glitters: The bright spark,

When brought to light, may rapidly grow dark . From things of State, my song would now descend, A sweeter theme its humbler notes attend; Bright happy scenes of festive joy appear, While smiling boards are crown'd with Christmas cheer; Long sever'd friends unite and turn again

To youthful days undimm'd by care or pain, Content to give the hour to social joy, Uncheck'd by cares of life or pain's alloy. The Christmas bells are slowly swinging To and fro, their solemn ringing Speaking of Ilim who this day bringing Life and light, and power to save Taught us to look beyond the grave For purer joys and holier bliss.

In a better, higher world than this. The Carrier's humble lay is ended, In rain or shine, his path has wended To spread abroad the passing news, And now, he hopes you'll not refuse A trifling boon for Christmas cheer, Since Christmas comes but once a year, Thus may his grateful wish repay,

To all "A merry Christmas day."

REVIEW OF THE WILMINGTON MARKET,

FOR THE WEEK ENDING DECEMBER 30, 1852. The water courses have been high for some time, and produce, such as Timber, Turpentine, Lumber, &c., usually dependent on the state of rivers, to enable the farmers to reach market, has been coming in abundantly, lately. Below, will be found such remarks on the week's business as seem to us mete and proper, all of which have been compiled from our daily interviews with both purchasers and sellers. BACON-We note the receipt this week of only one parcel N. C. make, to order. There is none in first hands, and the article is in good demand. The stock of Western continues good, and sales dull at quotations.

BEANS-White-None in market, and much wanted. BEEF CATTLE-The stock in butchers' hands is light, and drove of good would readily bring 5 a 51 cents, and prime 6 cents per lb.

Corron-Sale on Monday of about 40 bales at 81 cents Conn-Sale on Tuesday of 800 bushels, from vessel, at 621 cents per bushel. The stock on market is not heavy, but is fully sufficient for demand.

Coffee-Has declined a shade on most descriptions .-Stock good. See table. FLOUR-There is a fair supply of all brands of Flour now on market, and Fayetteville has advanced 20 a 25 cents per bbl. on last week's quotations. See table for prices. Hay-Has arrived pretty freely during the past week, and the stock now on market is fully sufficient for demand. Sale on Friday last of 200 bales Eastern on private terms; 150 bales Eastern, damaged, sold at auction on Wednesday at prices ranging from 571 cents to $1 05 per 100 lbs. A lot of 233 bales Eastern now on market, held at $1 50, and about 200 bales Northern, at -.

IRON, STEEL AND HOLLOW-WARE-Have all advanced materially. See table for quotations. Larp-The stock of N. C. continues light, and only small receipts. The stock of Western is good, and sells from store at quotations. LUMBER-River-Sales of two rafts flooring boards at $12 a $12 50 per M.

Molasses-No receipts this week. NAVAL STORES .- The receipts of Turpentine have not been heavy during the past week, owing, we presume, to the Christmas holidays. The sales, since last Thursday's report, foot up 3,531 bbls., closing firm at highest quotations, with a good demand, and but little if any on the market this morning. We quote as follows:

Thursday 600 bbls. at $3 15 $1 75 a $1 80 Friday 200 ".... 3 15 Monday 1,231 ".... 3 25 1 621 "..... 360 " hard 1 80 Tuesday 825 ".... 3 35 1 674 Wednesday .. 315 ".... 3 35 1 674

SPIRITS TURPENTINE has also advanced. We quote sales as follows:-Thursday, 150 bbls. on private terms; Friday, bbls. at 50 cents; Monday, 4 a 500 do. at 50, 504 a 52 cents, (mostly at 52;) Tuesday, 200 do. at 52; Wednesday, 250 do. at 52 cents per gallon, and a small lot at over 52 cents. The stock offering is very light, and demand good. Holders are firm at highest figures. Rosin-Sales of about 2.100 93-tf-17-tf | bbls. Common during the week at $1 per bbl. TAR-Sales on Monday of 242 bbls. Tar at $1 85 a $1 90 per bbl. Oars-Sale on Tuesday of about 630 bushels, from vessel.

POTATOES-Sweet-Arrive slowly, and sell from carts and hoats at 50 to 55 cents per bushel. Sale of Irish, from wharf, at $2 25 per bbl. for planting.

Ponk-We have no change to note in Northern. Fresh RICE-The stock of Rice is good, and only small sales to grocers, from store, at 31 to 4 cents per lb. Rough is in fair demand; 90 cents per bushel was refused yesterday. SALT-We note the receipt constwise since last report of 1,000 sacks Liverpool, which was bought up for another market at $1 25 per sack. There is but very little now in
